

THE HUDDLE

‘Walking in the Footsteps,’ ‘If Trees Could Talk’

Karyn Page-Davies emailed us about an event Stone Soup Storytelling Institute is holding from noon to 2 p.m. Monday in Woodruff.

“Walking in the Footsteps: A Community Event of Living History” will celebrate the work of Martin Luther King Jr.

A Unity Walk will be held shortly after noon from New Bethel School to McKinney Park.

Mayor Brad Burnett will then welcome everyone and Spartanburg School District 4 Superintendent Rallie Liston will provide some history. Poets and spoken word performances will give way to Sandy Norman and local community leaders sharing their thoughts and experiences.

For more information, contact Stephanie at 202-660-3926 or Karyn at 864-706-5532.

■■■
Newt Hardie will present “If Trees Could Talk” to the South Carolina Native Plant Society at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Landrum Depot.

Visitors are welcome.

—Have an event, some information, or a group you’d like to highlight in The Huddle? Have a question you’d like us to answer or a joke you’d like to share? Email us at huddle@shj.com.